MUZZLING THE PRESS

SUPPRESSION of free speech has become part of the policy of the Democratic administration of Nevada if the Bonanza is to infer anything from the methods pursued in Elko county. We are certain the citizens of Elko county will not stand for any libel suit such as was pulled off in Tonopah and therefore feel that Editor Steininger is within his rights to express any opinion he places about the odious prosecution of prominent Republicans who have become targets for the shafts of the attorney general and his man Sanders, who has been appointed special prosecutor in the Connell poisoning case in Elko county, while drawing pay from Nye county. The situation is explained by Editor Steininger as follows in his paper, the Elko Free Press:

The editor of the Free Press is placed in a peculiar position. Over his emphatic protest his name was drawn and he was notified to report to the court as one of the panel of jurors drawn for the June term. A prospective juror he is denied the right to express any opinion whatever on any case that might come up in the district court for trial.

When the first arrests were made in the Connell case he was warned to be very careful how he handled the story, and since that time he has merely given his readers the facts—just the news. He is prohibited, under penalty of contempt of court, to express any opinion, whatsoever.

We trust this explanation will make it plain to the public why the matter has not appeared in our editorial columns.

By the system the Democratic administration would have all Republican editors hogtied and gagged and shut off from all political discussion.

WHISKEY AND PROHIBITION

WITHIN a year prohibition of the liquor traffic has come into force in seven states on the union and local option laws have also extended the "dry" territory of this country. Within nine months ended March 31 last the production of whiskey and other potable spirits has increased 7,500,000 proof gallons while the production of beer has declined 45,000,000 gallons. The Internal revenue department estimates an increase of 10,000,000 proof gallons of potable spirits and a decrease of 60,000,000 gallons of beer for the fiscal year ending June 30 next. In alcoholic content 60,000,000 gallons of beer is approximately equivalent to 7,000,000 gallons of whiskey, so it appears that the consumption of alcohol in potable form will show a net increase of about 3,000,000 proof gallons. The American "proof" standard is half absolute alcohol and half distilled water by measure. The higher alcohol content of British and Canadian "proof" spirits is due to the standard being half absolute alcohol and half distilled water by weight, alcohol being much lighter than distilled water.

It is generally admitted that whiskey or other ardent spirits, intoxicates and develops habitual drunkenness more commonly than the use of beer. It is also admitted that whiskey takes the place of beer when a ban is placed upon the sale of alcoholic and fermented liquors.

WHEN WINTER LINGERS IN THE LAP OF SPRING

THE straw hat man is the hero of the hour. Having followed the fashion plates of the self made man and adopted the straw lid the wearers are Spartan enough to eling to through all vicissitudes of weather. It matters not if an overcoat is included in the entourage the man molded in the glass of fashion is an arbiter elegance to himself whose smug complacency wins admiring glances from friends and enemies. There is a time in the tide of all men when taken at the turn leads to fortune, but the man on the desert who trims his clothing by the decrees of the Sunny South is likely to wake up some morning with a well developed case of the sniffles that may bring on the terrors of pneumonia. Nevertheless, the man who dons the straw hat when the sun shines and then clings to it through snow and sleet is really worthy of the highest praise that can be lavished.

One thousand husbands have been denied admission tickets to the General Federation of Women's Clubs owing to the supply of tickets having been exhausted. The only wonder is why there should be such a demand. Haven't such husbands had enough?

San Francisco citizens have raised a fund of $10,000 to discover how many public officials can be dispensed with without crippling the city administration. Less than one good old fashioned iron buck would bring the information about Tonopah.

An officer of the United States army has invented a system by which cable communications can be cheapened. What we would like to see is some system of synchronizing the reports from Berlin and Paris so each side will now be calling the other liars.

Silver has become the football of speculators. When a commodity drops three cents one day and then is boosted back only to be hammered down four cents it is time for the nations to step in with a bimetallic standard.

Of all the horrors of war in Berlin none can be more keen than the famine in sausage which is reported to have reached an acute stage.

Congress has authorized an increase of the United States army. The real job will be in finding the men willing to enlist for peace service.

Russia has a sandwich that produces drunkenness. This should be popular with the American free lunch router.

A San Francisco lawyer, named Mash, has been disbarred for undue familiarities with women clients. Well named.
